forever wondering, how does it all begin?
it's the shadows of all the previous heartbreak that settles in for a few whole minutes before I change my mind... let's write this song and stay so close and I'll follow you with every footstep...

and are you still waiting for a chance just to let me know?
and are you still waiting? if you are just let me go why does it always come to this?

when something's wrong, I hit and you miss I trusted you to help with this suffering that you put me through and I can't recall the last time I felt good around you so don't look back, I'll never be there cause I'm gone for good, and no longer care and maybe this is how it is or maybe it's not unless you say otherwise
