You leave me alone,
and never let me know Ill come to your house and i wont ever go I knew something werent right on that december night something had changed and i wont take the blame king laugh here comes the sunshine baby here comes the sun king laugh here comes the sunshine when i try to move im, held on back wont try to let it show in the dead of night theres, too much noise tears and dry cheekbones when i finally left the thoughts behind oh, what a night and all the memories and thoughts inside wont try to let them show
