Oh so clean and oh so pure
The fever takes control of you
And please don't leave me on my knees

The last familiar place
To let me get away
A strong redemptive song
To help me ease the pain

If you feel
Endless sorrow
Just know you'll find a voice inside
The past is shared and both of us

To make the world a place
That's worthy of your face
To show you what's inside
A mind you find insane

And I've fallen from grace now
Like too many times before
All around me the shadows call me

As I try to cry out your name
But should I give into temptation
a sweet song to steal my breath away
Is this the last chance before I slip away

Oh so clean and oh so pure
The fever that takes control of you
Please don't leave me on my knees
The last familiar place

To let me get away
A strong redemptive song
