When all the air is gone
I can't find a way
For us to be near

Have I let you down?
Do you still to believe?
But nothing stays the same for eternity

I will be there for awhile
Nothing lasts forever
Searching through the night for true love

I won't lose you
This time will be forever
Searching through the night
For true love

I would lead you home
I would hold you close
Never letting go
That's how it should be

There's no other way
There's no destiny
No one know the way to eternity

I will be there for awhile
Nothing lasts forever
Searching through the night for a true love

I won't lose you
This time will be forever
Searching through the night
For a true love

I've been waiting for this moment to appear
When I close my eyes I feel that you are near

A breath of wind to cast away your fears
But night draws near

I will be there for awhile
Nothing lasts forever
Searching through the night for true love

I won't lose you
This time will be forever
Searching through the night
For true love
