So sick of fighting on my own,
So tonight I'm going to take the long way home
So sick of facing this bully,
I'll put my tail between my legs and run away

You know it's time to leave this place
When you go to bed sober and wake up shit-faced
The empty bottles won't ease your pain
When you're just another link in the social chain

I spend my nights hating this place
I spend my nights doing the same, and that's ok

You spend your nights accepting fate
I spend my nights doing the same

And that's ok with me
