Open your eyes now, my love
Open your eyes now, my love
Open your eyes now, my love...

In the temple of her mind,
she has driven it away...
This dark and mortal day,
Angels calling her to stay

And though her heart falls heavy there's a spark of light inside,
It illuminates her soul
And showers her with light...

Her eyes explored me at such distance
Translucence scarlet came across
I felt a rush, within her circle

(open your eyes)

Her eyes explored me at such distance
(open your eyes now, my love)
Translucence calling, I came across
(open your eyes, now my love)
I felt a rush, in the inner circle.
(open your eyes now, my love)

Open your eyes

While she stumbles through the noise
In another place of light
this translucent light is burning in her mind
A fortress in her thoughts to compose herself in time
A mirror full of dreams, a mirror free of lies

Her eyes explored me at such distance
Translucence scarlet came across

I felt a rush, within her circle

(open your eyes)

Her eyes explored me at such distance

(open your eyes now, my love)

Translucence scarlet came across

(open your eyes, now my love)

I felt a rush, within her circle

(open your eyes now, my love)
