See through me, I'll die in you.
Drive through my hell, these hours are wasted.
Won't you dive in me, you breathe me in
I am but air, polluted but still,
Dive in me, let me in.

I am just water, I am nothing less.
Cold like stone

And nothin feels the same anymore,
Tried so goddamn hard to please.
This was enough for you.
All that I had, here I lost myself,
Here in this heavenly hell.

I am cold like stone, and thinking slow. Yes, I'm bleeding still

I am just water, I am nothin less, brushed away like ashes from the dust.

How can you think I feel free, you build these walls
around me.
You still talk of love and peace.
How can you think I am at ease, can't kill the man inside me.
I long for a sweet release.

How can you think I feel free, you build these walls
around me.
You still talk of love and peace.
Is this what you think about me, you'll use and try to break me.
I can see, you're filled with envy.
