A loaded gun is what you've become and all you need now is someone to pull the trigger. She was everything that you'll never need, no never. So lay down in your bed of lies and get comfortable, you'll be there for tonight. Get up, get up. Come on, get on your feet and stand up, stand up. Come on get on your feet. Your breathless and tired from feeding the fire that burns behind her eyes. Take a look inside and I guarantee you'll find you're no different than we are. You can't heal these open wounds with all that you consume from everything around you. With a kiss that cuts like glass, it leaves your lips bleeding to death. You don't even have to ask, she's got you for the taking and she'll take you away
