

The Fall Of Science

"This Violet Sky Can Wait For Us"

Visit "This Violet Sky Can Wait For Us" on MotoLyrics.com

Save your breath it's not as if they'd hear you if you screamed
Through endurance I'll seize the day Don't try to hide it; your vanity is pushing through your wounded skin
No transcendental escapes for me

Your good intentions are only a thin disguise you wear so well

This is not what we intended It's so final; infinity
This is not what we intended
Oh god I see forever, oh god I see

If this is not what you intend and you swear that we'll be fine, until the cracks are wearing thin so I can read between the lines

If everything's clichéd then every stand I've made and everything I say will fade away. This is all I'll say, this is all I'll do just to prove I still love you

Your innocence is failing Your vanity is pushing through your wounded skin
So save your breath

Visit The Fall Of Science page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.