Posing for the cameras posing for the postcards
We lower ourselves to parodies of what society wants us to be
They don't want to know that punk means freedom
They would rather see us fighting each other as we do on the T.V. screen But don't forget that we don't want your money and we don't need your glory
We become less than nothing ourselves
Are you a punk? Than be proud of yourself Tell them to fuck off I saw a thing last night, the punks got caught up in the glory of the camera
They were making a mockery of themselves Starting fights in the pit pretending to be something they weren't Never pretend to be something you're not don't be afraid to show who you are Don't let yourself be used Don't forget that we are above them
They are less than nothing to us Remember that society fucking hates us, we are the fucking pukes
Don't let them ever forget...
