

The Firebird Band "Control"

Visit "Control" on MotoLyrics.com

This is monumental ripped at the seams this is the one thing invading my dreams I can't even feel it terrifies me I think it could kill me I'm in too deep lost in this motion and you can't go back crossing this ocean you believed you believed in me control your ego control your fascist sense control your best lines leave a line to the rest of the world this is an explosion we're deaf from this sound blind from the fanfare there's no one around something is broken you promised a crack a code and it's open this combination is hack this is a muse an anchor this is monumental it's the rest we must impress you confessed it was just a guess and if you break down you will sink and drown the rest you guessed would follow control your ego control your fascist sense control your best lines leave a line to the rest of the world somewhere there's a sound a deafening sound to make you come around somewhere under ground to bring you back down you can't hold us down you will never get out of this control your ego control your fascist sense control your best lines leave a line to the rest of the world

Visit The Firebird Band page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.