I know it's in the fashion you feign and you say it doesn't matter anyway the city at night is alright when you close your eyes it's alright when you close your eyes tonight do you feel just right take me to the next wave I know it's in the fashion you craque you say it just doesn't matter I'm drowning in this it's shaking my body it keeps me awake oh it makes me shake it's a drug I can't take the city at night is alright when you close your eyes it's alright when you close your eyes tonight do you feel alright take me to the next wave I know it's the fashion you rave you say it doesn't matter anyway a constant reminder a new love a constant divider new blood another outsider a sign from above to take you higher take me to the next wave I see all the things you try to hide plastic lies and made up eyes another innuendo another false crescendo to take you higher I know it's in the fashion you feign and you say it just doesn't matter the city at night is alright when you close your eyes it's alright when you close your eyes tonight do you feel just right take me to the next wave take me to the next wave...
