Kiddies watching television just can't lose
With space race cartoons and the morning news
Their transparent minds let it all seep through
The media sells but the product is you
Pasty faced zombie on a lazy boy
Asks his mommy and his daddy for a superficial toy
That was packaged for a penny by a poor slave child
Mommy says no, and the bitch goes wild

[Chorus:]

Bite your lip, open up your eyes
You're a corporate stooge, listen to their lies

Corporations have this thing called mass communication
To sell products and ideas through youth exploitation
As McD's arches spread like the flu
It's time to change the channel to see something new It's the same old story the American Dream
Flaunted like meat on the TV screen
Burning their logos into your brain
Leaving you lemmings simple and plain!
