I see you there, don't know where you come from Unaware but you're still from someone
Don't appear to care that I saw you, and I want you What's your name? Cause I have to know it
You let me in and begin to show it I'm terrified cause we're heading straight for it, might Get it

Hear the song playin on background
All alone but you're turnin up now
And everyone is risin to meet ya, to greet you Turn around and you're walkin toward me
I'm breakin down and you're breathin slowly
Say the word and I will be your man, your man, say when

(Chorus)

And my own two hands will comfort you tonight, tonight
Say when
And my own two arms will carry you tonight, tonight

Come close and then even closer
We bring it in but we go no further
We're separte two ghosts in one mirror, no nearer Later on if it turns to chaos, hurricane comin all around us
See the crack, pull it back from the window, you stay low, say when

(Chorus)

And my own two hands will comfort you tonight, tonight
Say when
And my own two arms will carry you tonight, tonight

Come across you're lost and broken
You're coming to, but you're slow and waking You start to shake, you still haven't spoken, what happened
They're comin back and you just don't know it
And you wanna cry but there's nothin comin They're gonna push until you give in, say when Now we're here and it turns to chaos, hurricane comin

all around us
They're gonna crack, don't you back from the window, you stay low
It all began with the man and country
Every plan turns another century around again
And another nation fallen

Maybe God can be on both sides of the gun Never understood why some of us never get it so good, so good
Some of this was here before us,
All of this will go after us Never stops until we give in, give in, say when

(Chorus)

And my own two hands will comfort you tonight, tonight
Say when
And my own two arms will carry you tonight, tonight
Say when

And my own two hands will comfort you tonight, tonight...
