The Futureheads
"Broke Up The Time"

Visit "Broke Up The Time" on MotoLyrics.com

If I hear one more person Talking about these days Saying it's hard in this day and age
I will explode
How do they know
What it was like 2000 years ago

Look at our cousins in the sea
They seem highly together
They seem to be free
But do they do
What's going down on the land
Because there down in the water
With there heads in the sand

We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different order
We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order
We look around
And when we bring it down
We gather everybody
And look at what we found

People try to tell me you don't feel ashamed It's nearly finished but it's not over yet
And that's being to easy to forget
But do you know
When we go over your head
I don't mean to offend
But you never understand

We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order
We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order
We look around
And when we bring it down
We gather everybody
And look at what we found

We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different

order
Broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order

We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order
Broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order

We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order
Broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order

We broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order
Broke up the time and the put pieces in a different
order

We look around
And when we bring it down
We gather everybody
And look at what we found