You Put the color in my eye.
Every time I get to see your smile.
I can't admit it but I think I really like it.
Let's take stock of the shop how can we review... how can we review.
We're getting tired anyway, let's save it for tomorrow.

You will never find anyone to come along and take you
by surprise
Because you've had too much to Think Tonight.

You will never find any to come and take you by surprise
Because you had to much to think tonight.

I take risks but I don't rely on them.
I have the feeling she likes to take them now and then.
Am I right or am I wrong?
I wonder should we carry on

You will never find anyone to come along and take you
by surprise
Because you've had too much to think tonight.

You will never find anyone to come along and take you
by surprise
Because you had too much to think tonight.

If you try to talk to me I will stare you down.
If you try to take over me I will turn you around.

You will never find anyone to come along and take you
by surprise
Because you've had too much to Think tonight.

You will never find anyone to come along and take you
by surprise
Because you've had too much to Think tonight.
