The city's getting bigger but everybody slowly moves away

Your accents gets thicker

The plot is getting thinner every day and planes are getting higher

The oil is getting deep below our feet

The sun is on fire

At least that is the word out on the street

The dust will never settle, we're always on the run

The dust will never settle

Work is never done

The lights are burning brighter

Everybody has a number and a price

This tide is getting higher

We're all drowning in a world of good advice

You believe in short of nothing

Cos nothing cannot be taken away

The sun is on fire and this city will be gone within a day

This city will be gone within a day

The dust will never settle, we're always on the run

The dust will never settle

Work is never done

The dust will never settle, we're always on the run

The dust will never settle

Work is never done

Go from here

I'll take you down

Take you deeper out of town

If we ever make it out of here

I love this city but it's burning to the ground

It's burning to the ground

The dust will never settle, we're always on the run

The dust will never settle

The dust will never settle, we're always on the run

The dust will never settle

Work is never done
Work is never done
Work is never
Work is never done
