The new dawn has risen
risen with the sun
I saw it in the children's eyes a brand new revolution

they're the beginning
they're the present
and they are the past
they're history
and the future
flows in their veins
they're my new generals

they resist with their stones in Palestine
face the baton charge
in Johannesburg
they fight like heroes
against the invaders
in Ireland
see them dancing on the ruins in the days engraved with blood

and they are the past
