Far away from my home Iâ€™m holdinâ€™ three diamonds in the left through days that return and every night I sleep near a ravine Iâ€™m stanger in rooms where snakes crakes crawl along the wall
You can sing the song of the prisoner
You can under a leaden sky but itâ€™s not enough now wen the lightning stroke I stole wild strings and a brand new hat to the gypsy of the turkish bath and with my back to the wall I sang the prophecy of the outlaw "nobody will fall except for the gouvernements"
You can sing the song of the prisoner
enough now
As a rebel Iâ€™ll blind the medals of the beggar As a rebel Iâ€™ll lame any strategy of escape
But I know that the shadows of the gallows caress my back all along the path of victory
You can sing the song of the prisoner
enough now
