I know you disapprove of my decision
I've been dying to prove my position
Once I had the guts to say when you were wrong
Now that spark inside me is gone

I sacrificed my life for this
And I will not run away

Because there's no escape I know from those who don't listen
Those who never listen
There is no medicine for those who don't listen
Those who never listen

I have played this game...Old and sour
I know who's to blame...You're such a coward
Once upon a time I got some sage advise Never argue with a fool

I sacrificed my life for this
And I will not run away

Because there's no escape I know from those who
don't listen
Those who never listen
There is no medicine for those who don't listen
Those who never listen

They use you...Get used to it
