

The Grownup Noise

"Old Joe"

Visit "Old Joe" on MotoLyrics.com

(Cummings)

He comes home after working for so many many years
Lays down weary on his bed
So many worries, broken dreams and fears, hurting things that people said.

Is there something you could do for him right now if you were there?
Is there some kind word that you would say to him if
you were there?

He don't remember mama
His mama never saw his face
The wounds he suffered from an angry, bitter world
Are something time cannot erase

Is there something you could do for him right now if you were there?
Is there some kind word that you would say to him if you were there?

Visit The Grownup Noise page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.