You can tell it's gonna be one hell of an evening
Wallflower let em free your sour memories
That grow just right in the light when your alone

And the drinkers still believe in perfect misery
They ache so patiently to love your enemy

And the knots that keep you strong in the fight
Start to slip untie in the night

I want just once a feeling to remain the same the same
Add one to one you always get the same explain
explain
Please just don't say you leave it up to fate

And you say who could it be that's speaking for me
I'm waiting for the news I feel like one of you

We try to stick to one life
Who will you be today who stole your tongue away

And the knots that keep you strong in the fight
Start to slip untie in the night when you're alone
So take quickly to your seat and see who it'll be

I want just once a feeling to remain the same the same
Add one to one you always get the same explain
explain
Moments sitting separate no refrain I'll scrimp I'll save
Please just don't say you leave it up to fate
