So now listen carefully. Well here's the words for you to read. I just wish you'd believe in me, and I know how hard this might be. Remember I'm just seventeen. Well I want to live my dream.

There's no use in giving up this time. Time is spent. We're talking about our future, and how will it end. So this how I'll live my life. Are you content? Could you just pretend? And now I've had enough, my story of growing up. Well have you had enough of me?

When I'm not giving in, then when will this dream begin and how will the story end? Well will it be broken?

There's no use in giving up this time. Time is spent. We're talking about our future, and how will it end. So this how I'll live my life. Are you content? Could you just pretend? And now I've had enough, my story of growing up. Well have you had enough? We'll see. Well have you had enough, well have you had enough? Story of growing up. Well have you had enough? We'll see.
