Sliver and gold casting light on all my deepest fears.
Leaving me to wonder, is this all part of your plan? Your help is always present as I cry out through tears unknown. You turn them into laughter as I realize I'm not alone.

But then I see the Silver Lining. Casting shadow on all my circumstances. Leaving me to wonder. Is this all part of your plan?

You spread your light about me. On all my darkest times. The lining on them silver. Your heart reaching out to mine.
So how do I know that you're near me? How can I hear your voice? Through the constant bombardment of life itself. I strain at your quiet call.
Walking down this road what story lies ahead? Will I run, will I fall can you hear me at all? I scream your name.
Please heal my pain. I cry out to you!
