All my life I had searched for a treasure of gold.
Wanted all of the money my pockets could hold.
I thought I could buy happiness. I was so blind.
For the things that I bought, they never brought peace of mind.

But I found my real treasure. I know I'm not wrong.
For I looked in my heart where it was all along.
It was then I discovered what I never could see,
That my greatest of treasures was your love for me.

That my greatest of treasures was your love for me.
