You came to me
In seamless sleep and slipped right in
Behind my eyes on the back of my mind
We swam a sea of pretty sights and chandelier skies
I swore I could feel you breathe
It was all so real to me

The light had slipped through the window
The morning ripped you away (oooh)
Don't wake me up
I am still dreaming the story's undone
Unravel at the seams
Don't wake me up
Death is misleading and when I fall asleep
Sleep with a ghost

I moved in the dark
The room calm and cold
The quiet hollow
I am such a haunted soul
Your ghost is gone the bed is so cold

The light had slipped through the window
The morning ripped you away (oooh)
Don't wake me up
I am still dreaming the story's undone
Unravel at the seams
Don't wake me up
Death is misleading and when I fall asleep
Sleep with a ghost

Oh you were a fire caught in a storm
Memories like embers keep us warm
You will leave me in the morning
Leave Me

The light it slipped through the window
The morning ripped you away (oooh)

The light it slipped through the window
The morning ripped you away (oooh)

The light it slipped through the window
The morning ripped you away (ooh)
