I'm in no photographs with you
And my heart is colored gray and blue
You know I've found that all the pieces will align in a shape
I've wondered why I've felt so wrong
You let this happen to me all along
Just turn around
And don't forget about the mess that you've made
Have I wasted all this time?
Take another look into my eyes
You'll feel me deep inside
And how I'm out of breath and I'm out of time
I hope that you're rundown and hurt
'Cause you're just another person that I've cut out of the picture
And you never really cared
You never really cared
The seasons take their time for change
Now summer's bringing down the rain
It's been too long now
For apologies to shelter me from the storms
And as all the colors start to fade
With inspiration gone astray
I'm tearing up the pictures I've adored
And have I wasted all this time?
Take another look into my eyes
You'll feel me deep inside
And how I'm out of breath and I'm out of time
I hope that you're rundown and hurt
'Cause you're just another person that I've cut out of
the picture
And you never really cared
You never really cared
Well, I'm telling you now
I don't care
