Iâ'd like to bring this tournament to a close
Cause eventually it will destroy us all
With its fierce and disruptive rivalry
Itâ's a race where no one wins
Yet obedient we take our fucking seats
To become spectators on the grandstand of our lives

It's a struggle that we may not ever win
But still worth fighting so let it all begin

Iâ'd like to see a freedom vital to humanity
Larger than acquiring consumer goods
Far beyond the justified greed and the self-interest propaganda

Gross inequalities of power
Where freedom only maintains inequality
At the expense of the large part of the population
