Images burnt into my brain
Sharper than knives
This cat-scan fever consumes us all

This lump in our throat grows bigger
Sooner or later this cancer becomes you
Hatred towards each other
And a soiled friendship down the drain

Years later the fear of starting over
Has killed me inside
Don't you bother, bother
Don't bother

Your lies bleed together
What you said doesn't matter
Your lies bleed together
Rumors that fill this room

Save your drama for the soaps
Your heart beats when the bullshit starts
Save your drama for the soaps
Your heart beats when the bullshit starts

The stories grow like
Tumors inside my heart
Your words are a sickness
That there's no cure for

They hit the ears of others
And spread like a virus
How can I ever start believing
What I am hearing

The germs take you over
The words become your savior
You can't breathe without it
You can't live without it

Your lies bleed together
What you said doesn't matter
Your lies bleed together

Rumors that fill this room

I'd love to see you think for your own

I'd love to hear you speak the truth
