It was an old song,
From kiss me, kiss me, kiss me that she sang.
It was an old line,
I kept with me, with me, with me when she rang.

You're such a strange girl,
You're such a strange, strange girl.
You're such a strange girl.

It's all been erased,
Everyone is telling me.
It's slightly deranged,
Everyone is telling me.

We traded blindness for wisdom
and some lines around the eyes.
But you just act like it was a fact of life
It didn't come as a surprise.

You're such a strange girl,
You're such a strange, strange girl.
You're such a strange girl.

And no you can't ever go home.
Everything has changed and the people are gone.
So close your eyes and summon up the song
And you feel your life falling under you like a slide,
Like a slide.

It was an old song,
I once knew every note and every line.
It was a long night,
When I carried you and you carried me for a time.

You're such a strange girl,
You're such a strange, strange girl.
You're such a strange girl.

It's all been erased,
Everyone is telling me.
It's slightly deranged,
Everyone is telling me.

I dreamt of your face,
And what the sun was telling me.
Time has made it all obscene,
Trapped us in our dreams.
