the sound of the engine the feel of the tires your hands on a wheel and the smell from the fires streetlights and headlights on a road that goes nowhere she left you, she left you but you know she's still out there and somehow it always seems like you are waiting for something

and somewhere they're dancing the night away madly and their sweat fills their eyes as they clutching so sadly so you struggled for words you could never find somehow but it's nowhere to hide coz the secrets's out now out now

out now

it's out now
out now

somehow it always seems like you could wake up from a dream
she never knew you she only knew what she heard so just want you pull her close and you'd whisper the words but you hated yourself for the things that you gave her but you (stole in your mind?) and you heart was impure so you think you'll forget all these nights like a sickness and there's nothing for miles everywhere in the darkness

and somewhere they're dancing the night away madly and the tears fill your eyes as you clutching her sadly and you ('re so sure of?) yourself but could not find an answer now the feeling grows inside you like a cancer and roar the engine on a road that's just endless and her ghost is with you everywhere in the darkness you struggled for words you could never say somehow but it's nowhere to run coz the secret's out now

out now

it's out now

somehow she always knew
