(V1)

There was a day when I could say
That I'll be alright
But I'm not alright today
There was a time when I could find
You right by my side
But You're not here beside me now

(PC)

And I don't know how
I walked out that door
To the stone cold world
Left You waiting for me to come home

(V2)

There was a day when I could say
That it doesn't matter, but it matters now
There was a time when I could find
A million excuses
But there's nothing for me to say

(PC2)

Except I'm away
Away from the voice that's been calling me
And I know that it's time to come home

(CH)

I'm coming home
Home to Your open arms
Home, forgive me I've gone too far
I'm coming home
I've tried but I just can't live
Without You any more

(V3)

I thought that I could live my life
Much better without you
So I turned away
And it seems I chased the dreams
I thought that I wanted
Without you around

(PC3)

But's all fallen down

I'm left with the sound of my emptiness

(BRIDGE)

Now, I'm scared to give all of my life away

Still I come, I'm undone in this broken state

And I yearn for Your love that I don't deserve

Now it's time for your child to come home
