Twenty years, it all comes clear,
The map's like a dirty road.
It's a fine line between doing time
And knowing when you've got to go.

Somewhere along we lost direction,
Somewhere along we slipped away, I just slipped away.

This is my way, we're burning down the highway,
And that's for nothing in return.
I will never, we're all in this together,
Wait for it, it's far away, my way forever.

Nothing's easy, nothing's fine,
The harder that you try is just the harder that you bleed.
Worthless and broken, see American dream,
A million to one are the odds for me.

Somewhere along we lost direction,
Somewhere along we slipped away, I just slipped away.

This is my way, we're burning down the highway,
And that's for nothing in return.
I will never, we're all in this together,
I'll have things my way, my way forever.

Here we go, there's no way out for you to go.

No intervention, annihilation, help me blow this all away.

This is my way, we're burning down the highway,
And that's for nothing in return.
I will never, we're all in this together,
Never have things my way, my way forever.
My way forever, my way forever, my way forever.
