I don' need the sun to shine on me every day.
All I need is Your love to brighten up my way.
You don' have to say the words love you every day, as long as You stand by my side, I know You're here to stay.

I no longer live in dreams, since I have found that everything is You.

You gave me life to change my world, since I have found that everything is You.

Now and then I need Your kiss temptations all around,
But most of all I need You near, when I' feeling down.
You make me smile, You make me laugh, You're my favorite clown.

I treasure nights we spend together, making silent sounds.

Now I no longer live in dreams, since I have found that everything is You.

You gave me life to change my world, since I have found that everything is You.
