So this is life where we are
I really don't think this is what we're meant for
I want an out from the pain
I just can't make it on my own way

I guess what I'm saying's I just want out of here
I get the feeling that someone out there is

Probably in pieces
You're not the only one who feels you've been defeated
The conversation is making it's way through your head
Look here at what has been done, done
Now all the pieces of a broken heart are one

I think we made some mistakes
Just like a fever that you can't shake
There's so much life in these scars
And one day soon we're going to move on

From what you're saying you just want out of here
I get the feeling that someone out there is

Probably in pieces
You're not the only one who feels you've been defeated
The conversation is making it's way through your head
Look here at what has been done, done
Now all the pieces of a broken heart are one

So I can tell by the breathing
It's bringing you in, oh, it's bringing you in, oh it's bringing me
Back to a place I believe in
It's the feeling that we're coming back to life

Probably in pieces
You're not the only one who feels you've been defeated
The conversation is making it's way through your head
Look here at what has been done, done
Now all the pieces of a broken heart are one

So if you lost your way
Out in the pouring rain

Don't worry bout it this time
You don't have to run
You don't have to run
The pieces of a broken heart are one
