"Bury The Lead"

I'm exposed to you like acid rain buried under all your nuclear waste sun's in shadows grass still won't grow clouds glow green tonight what's the problem did your promise leak is it hollow or maybe just too weak hope the crow flies through your disguise straight toward obvious its so wrong
so right
the scale's off balance in my mind if i were you
and you were me would i lie to you like you bury the lead trust the forecast shows some warming signs or those dry gulch pirates might reorganize makes me wonder who'll feed thunder when lightning calls a strike chorus reassurance throw me out more line make ugly shiny and i'll bite every time
