When the rain stops keep pouring your love down when the sun sets keep shining on me when the snow melts and the cracks show make a fresh start throw the old you away when the bad days make you angry making new friends doesn't come at all when the cute boys all ignore you and you don't speak their languages tell me once again i'm happy happy like the never ending rain
like a new drop, an old stop, a far off carousel kind of place when the dream fades please don't wake me when a smile comes thanks and praise when your luck runs into dry spells and the years pass just like days chorus can you step back, let the drains fill let the sink drip in your brain pull the light switch lose the life vest pull yourself back from the haze
