Pure by The Lightning Seeds night time slows, raindrops splash rainbows perhaps someone you know, could sparkle and shine as daydreams slide to colour from shadow picture the moonglow, that dazzles my eyes and i love you

just lying smiling in the dark shooting stars around your heart dreams come bouncing in your head pure and simple everytime now you're crying in your sleep i wish you'd never learnt to weep don't sell the dreams you should be keeping

dreams of sights, of sleigh rides in seasons where feelings not reasons, can make you decide as leaves pour down, splash autumn on gardens as colder nights harden, their moonlit delights
and i love you

shooting stars around your heart
don't sell the dreams you should be keeping

look at me with starry eyes push me up to starry skies there's stardust in my head
pure and simple everytime fresh and deep as oceans new shiver at the sight of you i'll sing a softer tune pure and simple over you
