There are petals with an old perfume
There are special drops of rain
Whenever I hold you close I see no pain tomorrow
There are lights they'll paint your memories
They will take your breath away
This world is your heaven
Only you can save it from sorrow

Never fall again
Never turn away
Let the dawn remain
Save the rain
Leon don't sell your heart
And don't tear your world apart
Here's the key to save your life
Tomorrow

There are deserts oceans open skies
God is under every stone
Just open your arms and let the beauty into your vision

Never let again
What we've done before
Take away this pain
It's a war
Fighting against hate
And that violence in their eyes
Spread your light and save your life
Tomorrow
