Hey vanity did you get lost on your way home?
It very well may seem
That there is something new out there for you.
Another glitch
Another glance
Remakes you all new chances
To get what you deserve.

The irony of these things
Is that all of those who have lasted are in it now for the long run.
Are in it now for the long run

Hey vanity did you get lost on your way home?
It very well may seem
That there is something new out there for you.
Another glitch
Another glance
Remakes you all new chances
To get what you deserve.

Your luxuries which are so cheap to me will only get you so far, get you so far
The girl behind the mask had my heart but now even her face is falling apart.
Where was she when I was sitting here waiting around for
Waiting around for her to come abound
This is my blues baby
Yeah, she makes herself up to go out at night
To go out at night
While I'm waiting around for her, for her to come abound.
I'm sitting around for her to come abound

Scream all you want until we lie across the floor
I made you your new face and now you can't walk out
that door
I know you can't walk out that door.
I know you can't walk out that door.

The irony of of these things

Is that all of those who have lasted are in it now for the long run.

Hey vanity did you get lost on your way home?
It very well may seem
That there is something new out there for you.
Another glitch
Another glance
Remakes you all new chances
To get what you deserve.

Scream all you want until we lie across the floor
I made you your new face and now you can't walk out that door.
