We owe it to ourselves to break the mold of what is normal.

We were better off before you came.
You showed up late to crash the party.
Well I'm so sorry and so are you.
I'll meet you outside soon to settle this.

Let's take ten paces from this spot.
Turn around and see who's got...
See who's got the better shot.
But you were a step behind so I shot mine,
And now you're on the ground.
That'll teach you to leave my town.

Well you know that I ain't messin',
Or even second guessin'.
I think I might have taught you boys a lesson.
Well you know that I ain't messin',
Or even second guessin'
I think I might have taught you boys

You say you wanna be the first to do something they've never seen
But now you're someone that you've never been

Let's take ten paces from this spot.
Turn around and see who's got...
See who's got the better shot.
But you were a step behind so I shot mine,
And now you're on the ground.
So let me say that this is my town
My kingdom
My crown
No one is allowed
So turn yourself around

You say you wanna be the first to do something they've never seen
But now you're becoming someone that you've never been

Let's take ten paces from this spot.

Turn around and see who's got...
See who's got the better shot.
But you were a step behind so I shot mine,
And now you're on the ground.
That'll teach you to leave my town
