When I say it stops I mean the shit stops here
I'm tired of listening to you
And all of your innocent hooks
I know the words you would say
Yeah you would say, "We'd find our time,
We will find our time."

Girl you're talking in circles tying knots with your tongue
Singing, "Boy, you're so innocent and young,
You're such an innocent crook."
I know the words you would say
Yeah you would say we'd find our time

And as you go home
You will never stop thinking about me
I cannot fight the urge to go home
You will never forget, you will never forget

The words that are on the tip of my tongue
Are meant to be bold and so headstrong
Because I can't take them back after the fact
The words that are on the tip of my tongue
Are meant to be bold and so headstrong
Because I can't take them back

And as you go home
(I'm still trying to save you, save you)
You will never stop thinking about me
I cannot fight the urge to go home
(I'm still trying to save you, save you)
You will never forget

You will never forget

You will never forget
Forget
