This bridge is burning down,
The first of many set by you
You wear them as a crown as you sit on your side of truth

You're robbing Peter to pay Paul
With regret in your attempts
To tunnel underneath the sunrise
And towards the last time that you
Came through

But it's gone
And it's time you understand
That it's wrong
And you've taken all you can.

The line is drawn you come to pass
The buck you rolled an artery
Was severed by the past and present
You receive, you'll see, you'll see

That it's gone
And it's time you understand
That it's wrong
And you've taken all you can
You've taken all you can
You've taken all you can
You've taken all you can...
