On the backs of our friends she's so pretty as she dances on the backs of our friends and this is how it ends we don't speak to each other no we don't ever talk except to say goodbye this is where you go you found out we were broke we were broke and old...and tired how did this all begin in love with each other thought we knew it all we found out we were wrong this is how it ends we found out we were broke all this money...spent when you run away we you burn us down when you get away are you happy now? on the backs of our friends she's so pretty as she dances all alone you're on the phone on the backs of all our friends you're telling us it's too late too be happy now
