Now you'll be asking yourself where the damn you are Nightmares and fears are not only in your mind
Don't be so hopeful coz money won't show you the way
You can't even imagine what you'll find

Shadows of laughter will shake you up these days
Sooner or later they'll come and take us away
Where we will build up our illusions without any hitch
And where we will have all the comfort and plastic

Waiting for the day when you can turn over a new leaf
You'll just live in a world
That you don't know but I can see you
So shut your mind and go straight on
But you don't know where you'll go
Hide yourself and make no sound,
That's all you really have to do
Reputation, meditation, tell me something 'bout the new Revolution, fast solution, take it easy, shiver and Face the spider
Face the spider, man!

Hi generation, what have you done today?
Have you let someone else laugh at you again?
And how many joints have you smoked
While they needed us, need us
We've got all we want and we waste it in the rain
