He's incomplete he can't compete can't do a thing he's on the team mom and dad told him that he would be on the team a hundred and ten per cent a little boy crush kill destroy not to blame not the same chemicals in the brain on the team but you just can't compete can't decide so pathetic moral is you've got to get it in later life you wonder why you always lose and don't improve more new games you can't play you're there just the same you're on the team you're in the scheme you are on the team but you just can't compete that's not the way you think but you're on the team.
