I'm in a quiet room
Apart from the everyday
Far from the in and out of breathing
I turn down the noise in my head
Counter-clockwise, the life I live
And face the glimmer of my longing

What a crazy love
On the wild, white dove
It's my heart grown strong
From too many loves gone wrong
On those wild, right nights
With a sad, sad song
What a crazy love
We live in

There is no emptiness
Here in my emptiness
Well I drink my fill, and I take it in
I turn the handle of the door
Out love and hello everyone
I'm fine and how are you, my desperation

What a crazy love
On the wild, white dove
It's a heart grown strong
From too many loves gone wrong
On those wild, right nights
With a sad, sad song
What a crazy love
We live in

Crazy, crazy, crazy love
Crazy love, crazy, crazy love
Crazy, crazy love we live in
Crazy love, crazy, crazy love
Crazy, crazy love
