It's the how-to guide to become the new face of zero
and one

So fall into the new line, hanging off the truth of the times

Parade of sisters through New York, a trail that, once it began snaking its way through the memory of faking its way through the hallelujahs, became a parade of sisters through New York, a trail of sisters through New York

You can't tell what the controls hide from the door that locks from the outside

But you'll know why, one day when, when you cross the line into godsend

In the night, asleep on the case, trust has turned from dreams we've come to know

In the night, asleep on the case, changed the words from chase and back to follow
