Every now and then
I get a feeling that I've left something behind me
But I don't know what it is yet
Like I tied a piece of string round my finger
And I hope this will remind me
Of the places I have been through
When I'm down, down, down
When I'm down, down, down
Every now and then
When I'm feeling lonely
I turn on my radio
Because I'm hoping that you're out there
It seems so long ago
I would see your writing on a postcard or a note
And your stories would excite me
When I was down, down, down
When I'm down, down, down
Wherever you stop along the way
I hope the wind blows you
Back into my life at the end of the road
And if I'm only dreaming
Then won't you tear the curtains down
And let the light back into this empty room?
Kissing in your room
Climbing out the window
Trying not to make a sound, but
With my first love on my mind
You see, we were never through
I never said I loved you
Even when we said goodbye
Never thought it was the last time
Down, down, down
And I'm down, down, down
Wherever you stop along the way

I hope the wind'll blow you
Back into my life at the end of the road
And still, every now and then I hear a voice
Singing to me softly
Deep inside my head
And it sings till I fall asleep
If I'm only dreaming
Won't someone tear the curtains down?
Tear the curtains down
Every now and then
I get a feeling
It's like I've left something behind
But I don't know what it is yet
Every now and then
When you're feeling lonesome
Just sing this melody
And remember where going
When you're down, down, down
