Tearing the pages from the book,
Staring you down, with the choices you took.
Another day, and it would have gone away,
But you poked, and you pushed it,
The button that set it off.
And now I'm stuck here,
For another year,
Waiting it out.
Well I have my doubts...

Tell me, what I want to hear,
Couldn't just, leave it, alone dear.
Well now I'm here, and now you're here.
So what's your biggest fear?

You know the days are coming quickly,
And you're going to miss me.
Write it down again, lose another friend,
Cause you poked, and you pushed it,
The button that set it off.
And when that time's up,
I won't be stuck,
Sitting around,
In this town...

Tell me, what I want to hear,
Couldn't just, leave it, alone dear.
Well now I'm here, and now you're here.
So tell me what's your biggest fear.

Take away the bad, the lies we've had,
The fears we shared, those who didn't care.
Because I, I can't stay, with you or them,
So you know what I'm expecting then?

For you to tell me, what I want to hear,
Cause you couldn't just, leave it, alone dear.
Well now I'm here, and now you're here.
I know that you are here.
So tell me what's your biggest fear.
